We be geekin again. Three years ago we moved from Philadelphia to San Jose and looked like this:

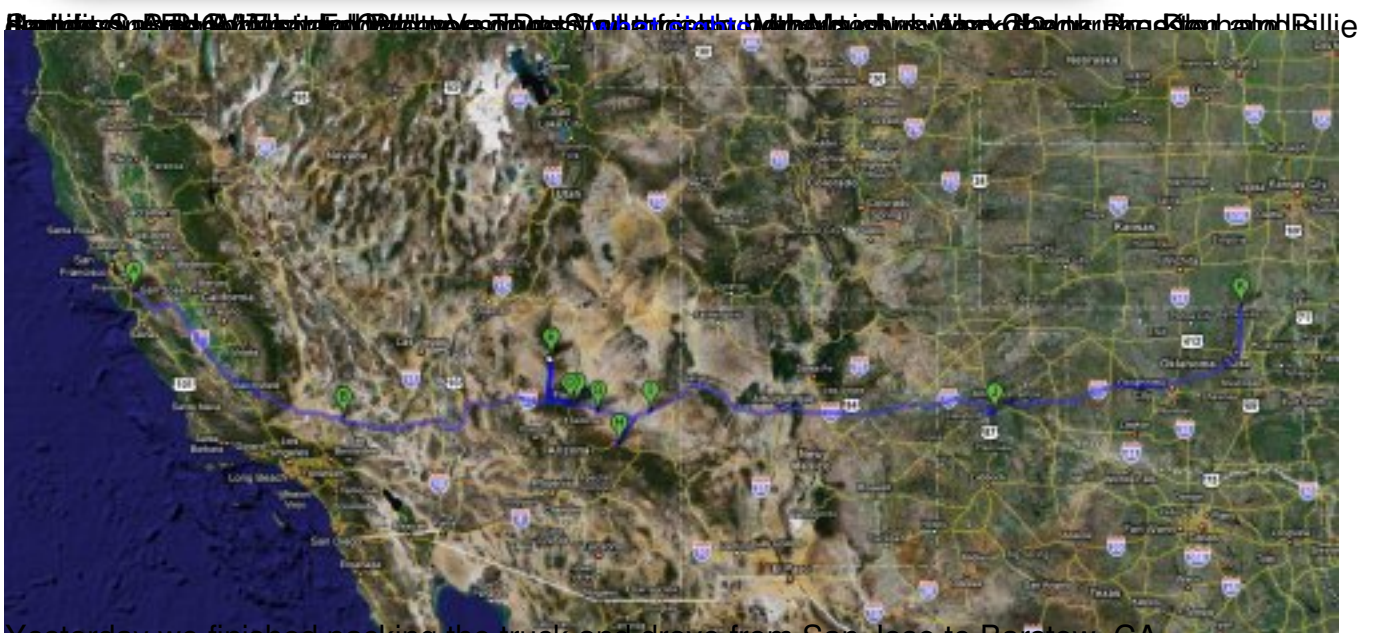

Now we're moving to Caney, KS, and still look a little funny:

The Escorial edge in Barstow is cheap and look how pretty it is!

Pinpointing is the power of the digital world. It's not just about location anymore, it's about the experience. The digital world is a place where you can find anything you need, from a new car to a new home. The digital world is a place where you can find anything you need, from a new car to a new home.
